A long-awaited solution for the bride and groom: an easy and totally private way to collect pictures of the wedding party together with their guests

Helsinki, Cable Factory - TellAbout presents an innovative digital photo album that gets party stories collected easily together at the Save The Date wedding fair on the 8th and 9th of November 2014. Using a special Event Guest feature, the bride and groom can easily invite their guests to upload pictures and stories of the wedding party to their album. This is a completely new solution where all the guests can participate without registering or installing anything on their mobile phones or other devices. The wedding couple can this way get their photos and stories directly into to their private album, without having to publish them on Facebook, Google or other places that serve advertisers and profilers.

Once invited to the TellAbout album, the guests can start participating during or after the party by adding stories as well as viewing and commenting the ones added by others. The album can be accessed with smartphones, tablets and computers. The party guests can be invited using a QR-code attached to a candy bag, for example, or simply writing the web address on a table card. TellAbout albums are fully private, entirely managed by their owner and the album contents are not used for marketing purposes. The wedding guests can therefore safely upload their pictures and stories directly to the TellAbout album owned by the wedding couple.

www.TellAbout.net offers private digital photo albums particularly suitable for families and groups, where it is also possible to tell the stories behind the pictures. TellAbout is being developed by Path 4More, a Finnish software company. The company was founded in 2012 and it creates software products for international markets.
